1. As discussed by the syllabus committee members, in its first meeting, severe brainstorming of the internal and external experts led to the incorporation of major issues such as employability, entrepreneurship, skill development, professional ethics, human values and environmental sustainability within the syllabus as much possible as well as current topics from NET.
2. The main structure of M.Sc. Zoology syllabus remained unchanged with minor modifications in the content or nomenclature of titles and were noted in detail.
3. The changes shall be made and finalised shortly in forthcoming meetings.
4. Study tour and field projects were continued to be kept as essential component of Zoology syllabus.

নং / No.

The confirmation of the proceedings of the last meeting.

The extended Departmental Committee meeting inviting the syllabus committee members was held on September 1, 2022, at 2 pm at the HOD Zoology chamber. The syllabus committee has finalized the PG Zoology syllabus after making necessary editing primarily by the syllabus committee members in consultation with the departmental faculties.

The point to be mentioned in this regard is that because of the absence of Prof S.K De (on lien), the syllabus committee has suggested incorporating the CBCS course Basic & applied Immunology in place of the erstwhile course Haematology.

It has also been decided that the revised syllabus will be sent to the University authority for final approval.

The meeting ended with thanks to the chair.
