1. Introduction about the Department:

The Women's Studies Centre of Vidyasagar University was established in March, 2010. Women's Studies centre in Vidyasagar University aims to promote study, research, documentation & Publication, training and consultancy on issues related to women, feminism, gender and sexuality with an objective to support women from all strata of society to understand their inner potentials and use that to create a more gender-just society. The Centre also run 2 years M.Phil. Program.

2. Vision:

Women's Studies Centre, VU aims to promote study, research, documentation & publication, training and consultancy on issues related to women with an objective to support women from all strata of society especially from rural South-Bengal to understand their inner potentials, and use that to create a more gender-just society. The centre also intends to provide a flourishing interdisciplinary environment for research and allied activities on a wide range of Women's issues.

3. Mission:

The centre has adopted a women-centred and interdisciplinary approach by drawing on a range of disciplines like history, literature, cultural studies, philosophy, politics, anthropology, sociology in one hand as well as science and technology with those gender, culture and society. The centre aims to be a perfect blend of scholastic and action programmes related to gender sensitization, women's empowerment and capacity building. Keeping in mind, that gender sensitization creates that necessary base for balanced perspectives on social construction, the centre intends to initiate and implement appropriate research, curriculum development, teaching, advocacy and action. Apart from introducing academic programme, it will also be involved in micro-level field studies and awareness generation programmes.

Goals:

- To stimulate and augment knowledge about gender, race, ethnicity and class as well as sexual identity and cultural influence on women's lives.
- To initiate research that addresses gender-related issues facing society today.
- To carry out programmes and projects that would help in formulation of policy and development of action plans for Government and NGO sectors.
- To study and impact assessment of policies and programmes related to women and gender.
- To establish network and collaboration among scholars and academic community across universities and academic institutions and governmental and non-governmental organizations that enrich the intellectual environment of the university.
- To improve the working climate for women faculty members, administrative and non-teaching staff of the university as well as the students.
- To create bridges between research, teaching, public understanding, and discussion about women and gender-related issues in general and women's lives in particular.

Provides advisory and consultancy services on associated issues to institutions and organizations, within and outside the government, including development agencies and cooperatives.

On the occasion of International Women’s Day 2023, we at the World Bank Group will celebrate women’s achievements and contributions with a series of events and engagements – we look forward to your participation!

The UN theme for this year’s International Women’s Day is “DigitALL: Innovation and technology for gender equality”. This theme is aligned with the priority theme for the upcoming 67th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW-67), “Innovation and technological change, and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls”.

Gender equality and empowerment remains a priority for the World Bank Group – both in our operations and in the organization. To drive transformative change, the World Bank Group’s yearlong Accelerate Equality initiative throughout 2022 explored the important progress made and lessons learned over the last 10 years since the World Development Report 2012: Gender Equality and Development (WDR2012), and developed ideas and a momentum for the future while strengthening partnerships with a diverse group of stakeholders. In 2023, the World Bank Group is transitioning to the preparation of the 2024-30 WBG Gender Strategy Update, to be launched in early 2024.

We at the World Bank Group are working with our clients to find innovative solutions to help women and girls unleash their human capital and become leaders, entrepreneurs, and agents of change for green, resilient, and inclusive development. Engaging women is key to development, including climate action. Women’s economic empowerment, in conjunction with girls’ education, family planning, reproductive and sexual health, and reduced child marriage, can facilitate the transition to low-carbon economies, help improve resource use, and assist in lowering environmental damage and land fragmentation, as well as increase resilience. There is more work to do, so, together, let us accelerate gender equality and empowerment today for a more sustainable tomorrow!

2. Special Lecture on “Women in tradition and modernity literary and folkloric perspective”

Speaker: 1. Dr. Mahendra Kumar Mishra,
Director,

Folklore Foundation,
Bhubaneswar.

Venue: Aninda Basu Roy Hall, Vidyasagar University, Midnapore - 721102

Date: 30.03.2023

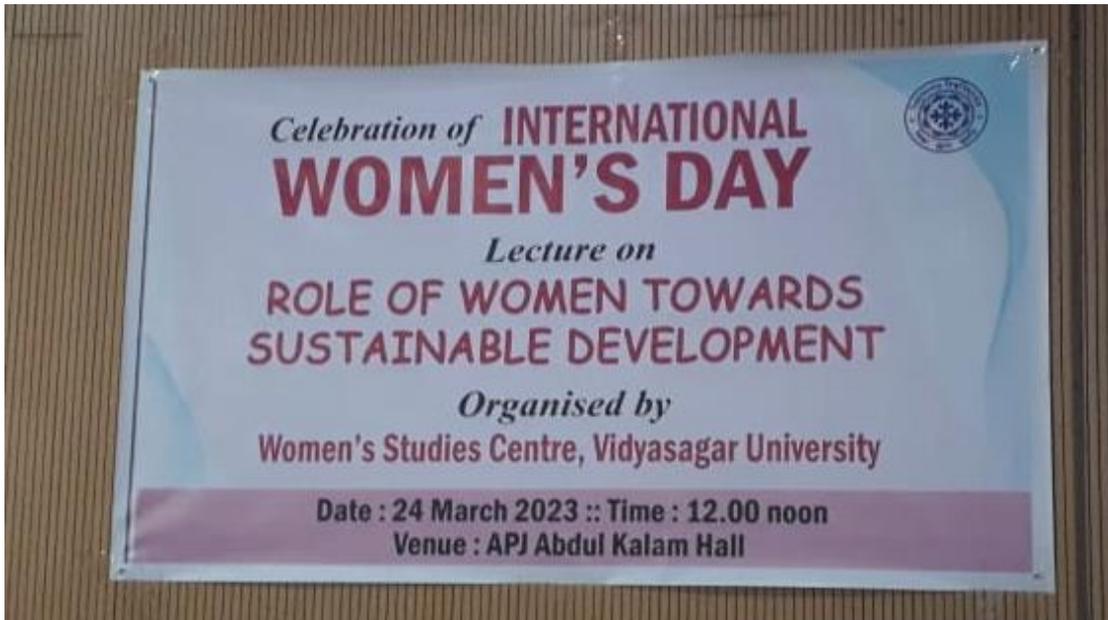

Organized by: Women's Studies Centre, Vidyasagar University Midnapore

Dr. Mahendra Kumar Mishra discuss about the “Women in tradition and modernity literary and folkloric perspective” from his own experience of life. The major portion of folklore depends upon the women. The relationship between tradition and modernity and the modernness of objectifying, representing and studying folklore and oral traditions. The modern and tradition as modern concepts, and the conception of folklore and its study as a modern trajectory. The politics of folklore with regard to nationalism, and the role of folk tradition in the production of nation-state in our country. His discussion of these issues emerges from selected perspectives on postmodernism and postmodernist thinking. These were topical, and in some circles radical issues in the early 1990s. We aware that today, more than ten years after, postmodernism seems like out-dated rhetoric. The literature from the 1980s and early 1990s because that part was originally written for the dissertation. With the belief that it still functions as a theoretical and research historical orientation to the discussion on the politics of folk tradition in the second section. Many of the points made in conjunction with postmodernism continue to deserve consideration. This is especially so in the field of folklore studies, which was never saturated with the postmodernist critique of modernism. There are academic environments in which such ‘postmodernist’ issues as reflexivity and representation and their implications for both ethnographic and archival research still await discovery.
