Resolutions of the Ph.D. Committee in Commerce held on November 24, 2023

Members present

Prof. Tapan Kumar De (Vice-Chairman)
Prof. Sunil Kumar Gandhi (External Member)
Prof. Arindam Gupta
Prof. Kalpataru Bandopadhyay
Prof. Tagar Lal Khan
Prof. Abhijit Sinha (Secretary)
Prof. Samir Ghosh (Invitee)
Prof. Brajaballav Pal (Invitee)
Prof. Tarak Nath Sahu (Invitee)

Resolutions:

Item 1: To confirm the proceedings of the earlier meeting held on Jan. 17, 2023

Resolution: The proceedings of the earlier meeting held on Jan. 17, 2023 were read and confirmed. In this regard, it was noted that there was an inadvertent error in the title of the research work of Sapana De. The final title should be as follows:

IMPACT OF R&D EXPENDITURE ON FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE: A COMPARATIVE STUDY OF SELECT LISTED INDIAN DOMESTIC AND MULTINATIONAL PHARMACEUTICAL COMPANIES.

Item 2: To consider the application of Rookhsar Akbar regarding change of title.

Resolution: The matter relating to the prayer for change of research topic was discussed. It was resolved to allow her to make her presentation on the new title for getting the formal registration on the same. After presentation the revised title of the doctoral work of Rookhsar Akbar is finalised as:

A STUDY OF FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE OF SELECTED NON-BANKING FINANCIAL COMPANIES IN INDIA, instead of the previous one 'Fly Ash Management by some selected Thermal Power Plants in West Bengal'.

Item 3: To consider the outcome of the Pre-submission report

Resolution: Based on the seminar presentation by Satabdi De, it was approved for submission.

The list of adjudicators for the evaluation of thesis of Satabdi De was placed by Prof. Samir Ghosh before the members, which was duly approved.

Item 4: To consider the outcomes of the Pre-registration seminar of Dipankar Mandal, Sudipto Chakraborty and Amalesh Hati.

Resolution: On the basis of the presentation made by the scholars, the following titles were finalised:

(a) Dipankar Mandal:

A STUDY ON THE IMPACT OF EARLY LIFE FINANCIAL EDUCATION ON HOUSEHOLD FINANCIAL BEHAVIOUR OF ADULT INDIVIDUALS IN WEST BENGAL

(a) Sudipto Chakraborty:

IMPACT OF ESG DISCLOSURES BY INDIAN COMPANIES ON FIRM RISK
AND PERFORMANCE

(b) Amalesh Hati – The scholar was absent.

Item 5: To consider the application of Sujit Mondal regarding extension of date for submission of thesis.

Resolution: The application of Sujit Mondal regarding the matter was considered by the members. It was resolved to allow extension to the scholar till 03.03.2024 i.e. one year from the due date of submission, subject to the approval of Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor.

Item 6: To consider the applications of Dipankar Mondal and Sudipto Chakraborty for exemption from course work.

Resolution: The applications were considered by the members. On the basis of certificates produced by them it was resolved that the scholars may be exempted from coursework subject to the condition that they have to mandatorily qualify the portion of Research Ethics from Vidyasagar University which is presently included in the Ph.D Course work syllabus.

Item 7: To consider the change of title of research work of Tarun Kumar Ray and Megha Agarwalla

Resolution: After discussion, the members approved the new title as proposed by the scholars. The new titles are:

For Tarun Kumar Ray under the supervision of Prof. Abhijit Sinha: IMPACT OF COMPETITION ON THE FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE OF BANKING AND IT INDUSTRY OF INDIA

For Megha Agarwalla under the supervision of Prof. Tarak Nath Sahu: DEVELOPMENT OF STOCK MARKET, DYNAMICS OF MACROECONOMIC VARIABLES AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT: EVIDENCE FROM SOME DEVELOPED AND DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

Item 8: Composition of Research Advisory Committee of Ph.D. Scholars.

Resolution: The list showing the composition of RAC for scholars as given by the concerned supervisors was placed and approved by the members (list annexed).

Item 9: To report the conduct of RAC.

 - A. Raimangal River
 - B. Bidyadhari River
 2. Premonsoon data of water quality parameters are recorded.
 3. Monthly sample collection of Plotosus canius from fish landing sites at different points of Raimangal (Jogesganj, Kalitala, Kmirmari) and Bidyadhari (Chhotomollakhali, Satjelia, Gosaba). Data collection started from March 2022.
 4. Morphometric measurements of each individual fish (Plotosus canius) are recorded in each month.
 5. Calculation of GSI in each month
 6. Estimation of Gut bacterial load of Plotosus canius collected from Bidyadhari river.
 7. Seasonal heavy metal concentration data recorded from different fish tissue (Plotosus canius). Water and soil sample collected from Bidyadhari and Raimangal River.

(With specific date /tenure)

SPECIMEN COLLECTION: In the present study prawns have been collected from different sites in Purba Medinipur District specially most of the large and reservoir type water bodies including Ponds, Rivers, Jhils, Nayanazooli, Canals and Agricultural lands etc.

Prawn samples have been collected by different nets traditionally used and also by some special structures like Banki, Ghurmi, and Mugri etc.

Collected samples have been preserved in 90% ethanol or in 4% formalin and identified by standard literature.

Besides that a local marked survey has also been conducted to gather information regarding prawn availability. Local status of each prawn species have been evaluated by collecting information for local experienced fisherman.

SPECIMEN IDENTIFICATION:

Prawn specimens are identified by standard taxonomic key.

8. Comments of the members of RAC: Satisfactory progress

9. Specific suggestions, if any: Sampling should be made in each month of the year. Compare lipid profiles in pre monsoon, monsoon & post monsoon seasons.

- ☐ COLLECTION OF FISH: Live fishes (Channa gachua, C. striatus, C. marulius, C. punctatus) has been collected randomly from local market and natural habitat.
- ☐ MEASUREMENT OF FISH: The measurement of length and weight of fishes have been made using measuring scale and SF 400 digital weight machine.
- ☐ DISSECTION AND COLLECTION OF ENDOPARASITES: The live fishes has been desensitized, their whole intestine has been incised carefully taking care not to damage any parasite and the parasites has been collected and dipped in 0.9% NaCl solution with a brush to expose the parasites under the microscope.
- ☐ MICROSCOPY – Fish parasites has been identified using Dissecting binocular and compound microscope following standard literature.

☐ PROCESSING OF ENDOPARASITES:

Acanthocephalans are recovered from the intestine of different Channa sp. Were kept in refrigerator for eversion of proboscis, fixed in A.F.A. fixative (50% alcohol, formalin and acetic acid, 100:6:2.5) for 24 hours, further preserved in 70% ethanol.

☐ PARASITE IDENTIFICATION:

Gut parasite Pallisentis sp. has been identified up to genus level following standard literature.

Determination of LD50 of Russell's viper venom

1. Ethical approval:

WHO-recommended preclinical experiments has been performed in the Rat model (male rat: 150-200 gm), following guidelines issued by the Committee for Control and Supervision of Experiments on Animals (CPCSEA), Government of India. All experiments have been performed after obtaining the requisite approval from the Institutional Animal Ethics Committee (IAEC), Vidyasagar University (VU/IAEC/CPCSEA/1/6/2022).

2. Animal and animal housing:

Healthy male Wistar rats (weighing 150 - 200 gm) were obtained from registered vendors and allowed to acclimate to the experimental conditions for 7 days. All the rats were housed in polyacrylic cages, not more than three animals per cage, and maintained under standard laboratory conditions (natural light/dark cycle, room temperature $22 \pm 3^\circ\text{C}$). Animals will be given a normal dry rat pellet diet, and purified water will be provided ad libitum.

3. Snake Venom:

Snake venom has been procured with appropriate permissions from the West Bengal State Forest Department (294/WL/2W-811/C-46013/03/2020).

Determination of minimum effective dose

Ethical approval:

The experiments were conducted in accordance with the regulation of the Committee for Control and Supervision of Experiments on Animals (CPCSEA), Government of India. The ethical approval was granted by the Institutional Animal Ethics Committee (IAEC), Vidyasagar University (VU/IAEC/CPCSEA/1/6/2022).

Animal and animal housing:

In this study, 22 male Wistar albino rats with a weight of 150–200 g were used. Experimental rats were kept in cages with 12 hours of light, 12 hours of dark illumination, temperature ($22 \pm 2^\circ\text{C}$) and humidity (45–50%) in automatically adjusted rooms. In the experimental process, all rats were fed with standard pellet feed in polycarbonate transparent lattices and fresh tap water was given every day. Anesthesia was performed by 87mg/kg body weight Ketamine, intraperitoneally, followed by six hours of envenomation.

Snake Venom and envenomation:

Indian viper snake (Daboia russelli) venom was procured with the permission of the West Bengal State Fisheries Department by following necessary stipulations (294/WL/2W-S11/C-46013/03/2020).

Viper venom at various concentrations, ranging from 0.05 mg/kg body weight to 0.35 mg/kg body weight, was injected into the rat's tail vein with a 6 mm needle.

Minimum effective dose of viper venom:

Animals are divided into eight experimental groups to investigate the histological changes in tissues in different concentrations. A single dosage of viper venom diluted in physiological saline (0.9% NaCl) (250µl/rat). The LD₅₀ (0.35mg/kg body weight) has been already found by toxicity test of venom. By analyzing the tissue morphology, the minimum effective dose will be decided from this range of sub-lethal dosage.

Experimental Groups	Envenomation Model (mg/kg body weight)	Number of animals in each group	Histologic study evaluation minimum effective
Control group	0.9% NaCl	1
Group 1	0.05	3
Group 2	0.1	3
Group 3	0.15	3
Group 4	0.2	3
Group 5	0.25	3
Group 6	0.3	3
Group 7	0.35	3

Histological preparation and analysis of results are in progress.

Future plan of work:

To fulfill the first objective of my research work, the multi-drug resistance transporters will be assessed. The immunofluorescence will be performed to evaluate the expressions of membrane bound proteins on and pericytes.

5. Name of the supervisor: Dr. Asis De
6. Date of meeting of R.A.C. (Fourth R.A.C. meeting): 16th June 2023
7. Progress of Research Work (with specific date / tenure): Following the submission of the second Progress Report in the RAC meeting held on 14th June 2022, the scholar had finalized the first three chapters after incorporating the relevant points as suggested by his supervisor, Dr. Asis De. Dr. De approved the final drafts of the aforementioned chapters in the month of November, 2022. The scholar had concentrated on writing the theory chapter of his Ph.D dissertation through continuous discussion with his Supervisor. In the meantime, he submitted the final draft of the fifth Chapter that includes Akhil Sharma's immigrant novel, Family Life (2014) in December, 2022. After the completion of the first draft of the fourth chapter that includes Jhumpa Lahiri's The Lowland (2013), he had submitted it to his Supervisor in the first week of February, 2023. After going through these chapters meticulously, Dr. De had given him few suggestions which, he would include in his dissertation after the completion of the first draft of his theory chapter. Presently he is working on the theory chapter. There will be one more part i.e., conclusion in his dissertation. Hopefully he will complete the remaining chapter and conclusion within July this year. He is ready to present his pre-submission in August this year. Apart from the writing the aforementioned chapters of his dissertation, he presented a paper entitled, "Disability and Politics of Caregiving in Family: A Reading of Akhil Sharma's Family Life" in an international conference organised by the Department of English, Central University of Rajasthan from 8th to 10th February, 2023. He also presented a paper entitled, "Diasporic Experience and Ethical Consciousness of Caregiving: A Reading of Jhumpa Lahiri's The Lowland" in an international conference organized by the Centre for Diaspora Studies, Central University of Gujarat from 23rd to 25th February, 2023. He also participated in one-day orientation programme for research scholars organised by IQAC, Vidyasagar University on 21st June, 2022. An article written by the scholar entitled, "Rethinking Kinship and Environmental Ethics: An Eco-Critical Reading of Rita Chowdhury's Chinatown Days" was published in New Horizons (Vol. - XIX, August 2022), a doubled-blind peer reviewed multidisciplinary research journal. Another article written by the scholar entitled, "Family at the Crossroad: Relocation of the Self in Akhil Sharma's Family Life" has been accepted for publication in Drishti: the sight (Vol. - XII, Issue – I; May 2023), a UGC-CARE enlisted journal.

8. Comments of the members of R.A.C.: The external expert, Prof. Goutam Buddha Sural commented that scholar had made a neat presentation. The internal expert, Prof. Joyjit Ghosh also supported Prof. Sural's statement and suggested that the scholar should relate the findings of his Theory chapter with the case studies.
9. Specific suggestions, if any: At the time of appearing for presentation in the final submission seminar, the scholar was suggested to keep ready other documents, for example, seminar presentation certificate(s) and publication(s) which are prerequisite for submission of dissertation.
10. Remarks (separate sheets may be used if necessary): It seems that both Prof. Sural and Prof. Ghosh were satisfied with the progress of the scholar. The scholar has almost finished writing the Theory chapter and is ready for Pre-submission. The supervisor Dr. Asis De and both the experts Prof. Sural and Prof. Ghosh recommend that the scholar should soon apply for his Pre-submission Interview.

7. Progress of Research Work:

Research work has been conducted on the disabled female body in Victorian domestic fiction. This investigation provided valuable insights into the representation of disability within the domestic sphere during the Victorian era. It will be helpful to understand the complex matrix between gender identity and disability in Victorian England.

Currently, the research is in progress regarding the representation of disabled pirates in Victorian adventure fiction. A literature review is underway encompassing a comprehensive analysis of relevant texts featuring disabled pirate characters.

In parallel, the study of disability and disabled characters in Victorian detective and crime fiction is also ongoing. Extensive readings of detective novels and crime stories from the Victorian era are being conducted to gather insights into the representation and treatment of disability within these narratives. This stage of research aims to identify and investigate Victorian discourses regarding disability, crime and horror.

8. Comments of the members of R.A.C.:

9. Specific suggestions, if any:

The external member of the advisory committee recommended incorporating a more comprehensive analysis of the prevailing discourses surrounding disability during the Victorian era in England. Furthermore, it was advised that a meticulous examination be conducted to ascertain whether certain popular literary works from that period attempted to challenge, critique, and resist the prevailing negative discourses concerning disability and individuals with disabilities.

Psychogeographical Exploration of Space, Identity and Narrative in Ruskin Bond

4. Registration No. with date and year: 00026 of the year 2018-2019
5. Name(s) of the supervisor(s): Prof. Debashis Bandyopadhyay

6. Date of meeting of R.A.C.: 22.06.2023

Progress of Research Work: Chapter I of the thesis, laying out the background, history and significance of psychogeography, has been completed and submitted in the month of September, 2020. The second chapter deals with Ruskin Bond's development as an Anglo-Indian writer and the challenges and crises that have shaped his authorial consciousness, especially in a postcolonial context, and it also seeks to analyse how Bond's acute sense of place may be interpreted in psychogeographical terms to assess the interrelationship between Bond's psyche and the physical environment and the manner in which it comes to be represented in and through his works. This chapter has also been completed. In the third chapter, I will attempt a psychogeographical history of the establishment of the hill stations in India and also analyze the literary representations of such spaces in and through the works of writers such as John Lang, Emily Eden, Rudyard Kipling, M. M. Kaye, Irwin Allan Sealy and Mark Tully who present varied perspectives on the chronological evolution of the hill stations from the time of the British Raj to the post-Independence era. This chapter is currently underway. By analyzing these representations, I hope to set the groundwork for an in-depth examination of Ruskin Bond's perception and representation of the same spaces which will be taken up in the consecutive chapters (Chapters IV and V) with special emphasis on the tropes of memory, identity and narrative in Bond's works of fiction as well as non-fiction to critically locate and establish the psychogeographic aspect of his writings which may enrich our understanding of Ruskin Bond as a writer.

6. Date of meeting of R.A.C.: 29/06/2023

Progress of Research Work (with specific date / tenure): I have tried to write the introductory chapter and the chapter on Wayanad Ramayanas in bits and pieces. I have included the history of the politicisation of the Ramayana in the introductory chapter as suggested in my earlier RAC meeting. I have also tried to include scholarly debates and commentaries on the character of Hanuman and how it features in the changing political scenario of the country. In chapter four of my project, I have tried to bring in other texts written on Sita by female writers as that gives us an insight into the changing approaches to Sita and the evolving engagement of women with the roles imposed on the feminine body by Hindu Brahmanic hegemony.

8. Comments of the members of R.A.C.:

1. To bring in the premise of intertextuality in the introductory chapter to approach the Ramayana tradition more holistically.
2. To conduct more interviews with Ramayana scholars all across the country
3. To conduct field study as part of the ethnographic research that would enhance the research.

8. Comments of the members of R.A.C.: As advised in point 9.
9. Specific suggestions:
(i) Prof. Tirthankar Das Purkayastha (External Advisor, RAC):
To re-structure the chapters on the basis of dominant motifs and themes. Each chapter will be on a single book or author to highlight a motif and may have cross-references to similar uses of the motif in other authors or books . The chapter-title, in each case, will mention the novel and the dominant motif therein.

[A/N: If for instance, the first chapter may be on (the name of the book) and its idea of Power (coming of age+coming to power+acceptance and rejection). This chapter may include discussion of the following:
A. Red Power and defense against witch hunt+Nazism (Secret History of Witches),
B. Divine power versus magical power (Circe),
C. Elemental power tied to emotions (A Discovery of Witches),
D. Transformative power (both Circe and ADoC),
E. Power of witchcraft (and later part of Wicca) specifically tied to Salem accused (Physick Book of Deliverance Dane that focuses on arcane herbal magic).]

Report of the meeting of the R.A.C.

1. Name of the Candidate: Nirmalendu Maiti
2. Name of the Department: English
3. Title of the Thesis: Representation of Postcolonial Eco-geographical Spaces in the Select Works of Amitav Ghosh, Pankaj Sekhsaria, Kiran Desai and Stephen Alter
4. Registration No. with date and year: 797/Ph.D. (Arts) w.e.f. 28.11.2018
5. Name of the supervisor: Dr. Asis De
6. Date of meeting of R.A.C.: 19.06.2023
7. Progress of Research Work (with specific date / tenure):

Following the last RAC Meeting on 17.06.2022, the scholar has submitted three chapters of his dissertation to his supervisor. These chapters include three case studies i.e., Amitav Ghosh's The Hungry Tide, Pankaj Sekhsaria's The Last Wave, and Stephen Alter's In the Jungles of the Night.

Amitav Ghosh's The Hungry Tide (2004) is set in the Sundarbans of India—which could be seen as an ecotone, a bordering point, and confluence of two biomes—the water and the land. The Sundarbans is a river archipelago having the world's largest coastal mangrove forest. The novel is more than just a tangling relation between Kanai, Piya and Fokir. Behind the fabrication of the fictional narrative, there is a deep ecological consciousness prevailed throughout the novel. The people of the Sundarbans, as depicted in Ghosh's novel, have strong faith in the myth of Bonbibi. The myth of Bonbibi, on the surface, creates an imaginary line of prohibition for the people who depend on the natural resources in the mangroves for their life. It implies that if one falls victim to one's greed and tries to take more than his basic needs from the nature, the person may face death in the form of a Bengal tiger. From an eco-geographical perspective, it creates a space where human being and the non-human entity are placed in an inter-dependant position. Throughout the novel, however, this human/non-human interdependency is threatened as human necessity and ecological sustainability are found to be conflicted with each other.

The Third Chapter of this dissertation, which is a study of Pankaj Sekhsaria's The Last Wave, closely examines delicacy of the island eco-geography and consequences of colonial settlements on Andaman environment. This chapter explores how the fragile island eco-space is affected by the 'mainlanders'. The chapter shades light on the colonial past of Andaman Islands — the formation of penal colony, establishment of the Cellular Jail, and extensive deforestation. Most of these human activities result in unavoidable environmental issues e.g., illegal encroachment inside the Jarawa Reserve Forest, unethical timber extraction, and massive urban 'developments' in Andaman. This chapter examines how the colonial notion of the binary in 'civilisation/wilderness' is still followed in the post-Independent Andaman, with the Jarawas being named as the 'junglees'. Finally, this chapter draws its conclusion on the impending environmental crises in Andaman. The consequences of careless human activities in a fragile eco-space like Andaman might result in an environmental catastrophe, with an impact no less devastating than the tsunami that hit the Andaman Islands in 2004.

Stephen Alter's In the Jungles of the Night, located in the Terai eco-geography, is a fictional recounting of Jim Corbett's life. In this novel Corbett is seen more of a naturalist, than as a hunter. This chapter explores Terai as one of the most exploited eco-spaces in colonial India. This chapter shades light on the colonial creation of hill station/ terai binary. For colonisers, hill stations represent leisure and summer retreat, while the terai was the source of colonial commodities. Terai forests supplied timber for houses in nearby hill stations. The wood was used in manufacturing railway sleepers and coaches, or as alternative fuel in the steam locomotives. Clearing the Terai forests at a tremendous rate to match up with the massive need of timber had various ecological consequences. Apart from deforestation, one of the major transformations in the Terai was an ecological condition under which large carnivores like tigers and leopards were forced to become man-eaters. This chapter ends with a note of hope as Corbett decided to become a wildlife photographer from a hunter later in his life. Instead of shooting a tiger with his rifle, he decided to 'shoot' it with his camera and preserve it in photo frame. This chapter concludes with a note that preservation of nature is as much needed as becoming a naturalist—someone who learns from and cares about nature.

Presently the scholar is working on the corrections given by his supervisor. At the same time, the scholar is also writing the fourth chapter of his dissertation, which is a study of Kiran Desai's The Inheritance of Loss. To understand eco-geographical transformation of Darjeeling and Kalimponghe is also reading books and research works on Indian hill stations and its colonial past e.g., The Magic Mountains by Dane

Kennedy, Empire in the Hills by Queeny Pradhan, and A Concise History of Darjeeling District by E. C. Dozey.

The scholar has sent an abstract on Stephen Alter's In the Jungles of the Night to the upcoming international conference at the University of Bern, Switzerland (22-26th August, 2023). The abstract has been accepted for paper presentation.

The scholar aims to submit the chapter on Kiran Desai by the middle of July so that he can submit the final chapter by the end of August. The scholar plans to go for the pre-submission before the Puja Recess in October.

8. Comments of the members of R.A.C.:

After the presentation, Dr. Sobha Chattopadhyay, Former Head, Department of English, Jadavpur University, appreciates the way the scholar has examined all the four eco-geographies of delta, island, terai and mountain under two broad categories—archipelago and mountain. Dr. Debdas Roy, Department of English, Vidyasagar University, advises the scholar to incorporate the idea of 'paradox' in the first chapter of his dissertation. According to him, the scholar should highlight how human intension of protecting environment is contradicted with their actions which result in environmental degradation. As per the instruction of his supervisor, Dr. Asis De, the scholar would frame the idea of 'paradoxical spaces' taking references from Amitav Ghosh's The Living Mountain.

9. Specific suggestions, if any:

Dr. Indranil Acharya, Department of English, Vidyasagar University, advises the scholar to conduct interview with the selected authors, or to follow their interviews already published elsewhere to understand their approach to the idea of 'eco-graphical spaces'. Dr. Sobha Chattopadhyay has suggested to make a cross-reference of timber trade as reflected in Glass Palace.

10. Remarks (separate sheets may be used if necessary):

It seems that Dr. Sobha Chattopadhyay, Dr. Debdas Roy, and Dr. Indranil Acharya are satisfied with the progress of the scholar. The scholar has completed writing three chapters of his dissertation after encompassing all the suggestions he received in his previous RAC Meeting. All these chapters are submitted to and duly approved by his supervisor. Presently he is working on the fourth chapter of his PhD dissertation. Overall, his progress during the aforementioned tenure is satisfactory.

7. Progress of Research Work:
(with specific date / tenure)

In this tenure, the research scholar has completed 'Literature Review.' The scholar has been working on the third chapter titled 'Patriarchy and Notion of Woman: A Study of Bengali TV Serials.' The chapter aims to explore how patriarchy constructs the notions of women and how it historically, politically and culturally constructed, validated and articulated. It also traces how Bengali T.V serials configure the notion of women and promote patriarchy. The scholar has also prepared a questionnaire to take the opinion of audiences about Bengali serials.

8. Comments of the members of R.A.C.: The presentation of the scholar is simply excellent. Actually, the subject matter of her dissertation is praise-worthy. The idea of preparing a questionnaire is novel too. Her progress is also very good. I wish her success.

8. Specific suggestions, if any:

As the study will be based on empirical findings it is important to specify whether it will be based on survey or in-depth interview in the methodology section. The survey rational should be stated clearly. Age wise/gender wise/family income wise/education wise distribution of data should be collected while conducting the field visits. It is necessary to have a combination of close and open-ended questions in the prepared questionnaire. If the researcher wants to have Focused Group Discussions (FGDs) the planning /preparation should be taken care of simultaneously at this stage of his research.

It is hereby notified for general information that the Nature Club of Vidyasagar University has taken the initiative of rejuvenation of open wasteland inside the University campus into a productive and eco-friendly fruit orchard coupled with flower garden. In this connection a plantation programme for saplings is going to be organised on 17th of August, 2023 at 11.00 a.m. onwards at the University Campus. Professor Susanta Kumar Chakraborty, Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor of Vidyasagar University has given his kind consent to remain present and inaugurate the said programme. Some distinguished personalities and other dignitaries of Forests Department of Government of West Bengal will remain present in this programme.

All stakeholders of the University (faculty members, officers, non-teaching staff members, supporting staff members, research scholars and students) are cordially invited to remain present on this auspicious programme on that date and time.

This notification is issued with the approval of the competent authority.
